WINNING TO CARRY LIBERAL FIGHT HERE

SOUTHEASTERN FLORIDA LASHED TO-DAY BY HURRICANE

WINDSTORM CAUSES DEATHS IN FLORIDA AND OCEAN AND PUTS STEAMSHIPS IN DISTRESS

Telephone Man Killed at Miami Beach; Eight Fishermen Reported Drowned; Wind Doubles Back on its Course at 100 Miles an Hour.

Miami, Fla., July 27.—The Tropical Radio Company reported late to-day that the centre of the West Indian hurricane, reported early in the day between Palm Beach and Jupiter Inlet, was retreating its course in a 100-mile-an-hour gale toward Miami.

The first loss of life in the Florida hurricane came to-day when F. A. Lancaster, thirty-five, a telephone repairman, was killed by a live wire at Miami Beach.

MAN SURRENDERS FOLLOWING DEATHS

James Voelker Held by Buffalo Police After Rum Tragedies
Two Men Arrested in Hamilton, Ont.; Deaths Totaled Thirty-four

Buffalo, N.Y., July 27.—James Voelker, sought as the distributor of poisonous liquor which has left a trail of dead and blind along the Buffalo-Niagara frontier, to-day appeared voluntarily at police headquarters here in company with his lawyer and surrendered.

Voelker refused to make any statement to the police. It was said he would later be given an opportunity to plead to a charge of first degree manslaughter.

CAME FROM EUROPE
Police and federal authorities on both sides of the Canadian border were following clues to-day concerning the origin and movement of the poison which took thirty-four lives and made others blind and ill.

One theory was that the liquor had originated in Germany or Belgium and been shipped to New York and from there to Buffalo. Here it is thought it was smuggled into Canada, where it was used in the production of cheap gin and whisky.

Some of the "bugger" found its way back to Buffalo, soft drink places, falsely labelled as good Canadian liquor, and the remainder was disposed of in Canada at very cheap prices.

Voelker is reported to have amassed a fortune from his illegal business in recent years.

ONTARIO INVESTIGATION
Toronto, July 27.—More than 100 gallons of wood alcohol which is said to have been the "liquor" that caused the deaths of eighteen persons in Ontario in the last few days, arrived in an Ontario town from the United States hidden in a car of coal, according to information secured by provincial police to-day.

Good authority to-day declared on good authority to-day.

AMEE MCPHERSON DENIES NEW STORY

Los Angeles Evangelist Says She Did Not Live at Carmel, California

Los Angeles, July 27.—Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, to-day appealed to the Associated Press for aid in locating Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at the Angelus Temple, her religious headquarters here, whose name has been brought into the mystery of her disappearance at the beach at Santa Monica, California, May 18 last. She denied she had been in Ormiston's company and begged him to return and clear her name.

Yesterday J. Ryan, Los Angeles deputy district attorney, announced four persons had identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman who had shared a cottage with a man near Carmel-by-the-Sea, California.

HANDWRITING STUDIED
"I'm positive Ormiston was the man at the cottage," the investigator declared. "I have samples of handwriting which I believe to be that of the evangelist," he added.

One of those who identified the picture as that of Mrs. McPherson declared that "the couple" used to make love together in the garden in front of the house."

The man and woman arrived at the cottage the morning of May 18, the day after Mrs. McPherson disappeared.

Miami, Fla., July 27.—The Ward Line liner Orinaba reported by wire late at 1:30 p.m. to-day that she was near the Italian steamship Ansaldo San Giorgio II, in distress off Jupiter Inlet, but was unable to give any assistance on account of the high seas. She said the wind was blowing 100 miles an hour.

Another victim of the hurricane was reported to-day when radio advice was received from the Danish tanker Wilhelm A. Reidemann, saying she was in distress off the Hillsboro Light, near Miami.

SHIP PROCEEDS
Jacksonville, Fla., July 27.—The Citrus steamship Seminoles, from New York to Miami, wireless to-day that the storm had moderated and that she was proceeding on her voyage.

The Gulf Refining Company's tanker J. M. Guffey, due here to-day from Port Arthur, Texas, had not been heard from by local representatives.

EIGHTY-MILE WIND
Jacksonville, Florida, July 27.—A wind that attained a velocity of eighty miles an hour this morning still was sweeping over West Palm Beach and vicinity at noon to-day. No lives had been lost and no injuries had been reported.

It was believed the centre of the storm was still to come.

Many roofs have been blown from houses; trees have been uprooted and the seas, lashed by the fierce wind, are rolling over the ocean boulevard.

TOWARD WEST COAST
The wind was headed for the west coast of Florida, where it was feared even greater damage would be caused.

The radio stations were unable to receive or send communications. Trains, however, continued to arrive, although delayed.

West Palm Beach will be without lights to-night unless the storm abates sufficiently for repairs to be made to the electric lines. The power was off early to-day.

SHIP CALLS AID
Miami, Fla., July 27.—Indications that the Italian steamship Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo still was riding out the storm off the Florida coast were received in 8:08 calls picked up here after reports had been received that she had disappeared from sight of the steamships West Harshaw and Oreahua, which went to her assistance.

Atlanta, Ga., July 27.—Miami and West Palm Beach, Florida, were cut off from wire communication with the outside world to-day, due to the hurricane which swept up the lower east coast from the Caribbean Sea.

A message from the oil tanker Charles M. Everest, off the east coast, intercepted at Tampa, said the barometer at Miami at 8 o'clock this morning was 29.50 and steadily rising.

PHILIPPINES DECLARE FOR INDEPENDENCE

Manila, July 27.—The Philippine House of Representatives to-day passed a bill providing for a plebiscite on the question of Philippine independence. The bill goes to Governor-General Wood, who is expected to veto it. The Legislature is expected to override the veto and send the bill to President Coolidge.

CRAB "WAR" IN CHESAPEAKE BAY

Hampton, Va., July 27.—The Virginia fisheries patrol boat Marguerite will mount a machine gun hereafter as the result of the "war" which has existed between Maryland crabbers and Virginia officials in Chesapeake Bay since 1924.

Installation of the weapon was authorized to-day because Marylanders fired last week upon the vessel when she sought to prevent them from taking crabs from Virginia waters. Quiet now prevails in the troubled zone.

BOOTLEGGERS ARE TO PAY INCOME TAX

Judicial Committee of British Privy Council Makes Ruling Affecting Canada

London, July 27 (Canadian Press).—Bootleggers in Canada must pay Federal income tax, the same as persons engaged in lawful businesses, according to the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

The income tax authorities, however, have refused to pay the cost of the Canadian Minister of Finance against the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in the case of Cecil R. Smith of Windsor, Ontario. The appeal was allowed and Smith was ordered to pay the costs of the appeal.

The judges of the Judicial Committee state they find no valid reason for holding the Parliament of Canada intended to exclude bootleggers from the operation of the income tax. They state his is a particular case of such exclusion would result in raising the burden of taxation on the people throughout Canada who are engaged in lawful business.

INCOME $92,000
In 1921 Cecil R. Smith made a return to the Federal income tax branch stating his income was $92,000, and he was assessed on that basis. Smith appealed to the Exchequer Court of Canada, and his appeal was dismissed. Thereupon he carried the case to the Supreme Court of Canada, which allowed his appeal. The Supreme Court held that if the definition of income was wide enough to include income derived from liquor business prohibited in Ontario, it would also be wide enough to include gains from purgatorial or highway robbery.

The Finance Minister appealed to the Privy Council.

LOSS OF $200,000 CAUSED BY FIRES
Lumber Camps, Logs and Equipment Near Golden, B.C., Burned

Golden, B.C., July 27.—Camp No. 5 of the Columbia River Lumber Company, near Moberly, twenty miles west of here, was destroyed by a forest fire late last night. Last week Camp No. 6 was burned, together with immense quantities of cut logs and equipment.

All members of Camp 5 crew were able to get away, but about 1,500,000 feet of cut logs and other camp equipment were lost.

Conservative estimates place the loss to the Columbia River Lumber Company during the past week at $200,000.

Camp No. 3, close to Camp 5, is also threatened.

M. Durkin is Given Long Prison Term

Chicago, July 27.—Martin Durkin, who killed Edwin Shanahan, a federal agent, to-day was sentenced, to thirty-five years in the Joliet prison after a motion for a new trial had been overruled. A jury had fixed the punishment.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY HEADS VISITOR TO CITY

H. Elliott, Chairman of Line and Party, Spent Yesterday and To-day Here
Did Much of Early Working of Great Transcontinental Line

Howard Elliott, chairman of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, also director and member of the executive committee of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, and party arrived in Victoria yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Elliott was president of the Northern Pacific Railway from 1903 to 1913 and prior to that vice-president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy line.

While he was president of the Northern Pacific much of the heavy work in remodeling the line to make it one of the best of the transcontinental roads was done. It also was the first of the northern transcontinental roads to serve the Pacific Northwest and the Puget Sound and Columbia River country.

It has always done considerable business between Victoria, Vancouver and points in the United States via Puget Sound points—Portland and Tacoma—and over Northern Pacific and C. B. Q.

Although it has no rails or boats to Victoria or Vancouver, it works closely with rail connections and the boat lines to and from the Orient.

It is very fortunate in having as its general agent here R. Blackwood, a long time resident of this beautiful and interesting city, said Mr. Elliott.

For more than twenty-five years the famous Northern Coast Limited of the Northern Pacific has been running daily and its service is unequalled. Its agents in the Middle West send many passengers on circle tours to the Canadian Northwest via Canadian lines one way and N. P. and C. B. Q. the other.

Mr. Elliott has been making a trip of inspection over some of the lines of the C. B. Q. and N. P. Up to the (Continued on page 9)

RAIL RATE HEARING IN PRINCE RUPERT

Commission Now on Way to That City to Hear Freight Requests

Vancouver, July 27.—Chief Commissioner H. A. McKeown, Commissioner Frank Oliver and the staff of the Railway Commission conducting the western phase of the general inquiry into equalization of freight rates are to-day on their way north to resume their hearings in Prince Rupert. They left here last night.

G. G. McTier, K.C., counsel for the Government of British Columbia, as well as a number of representatives of the railways went along to present the evidence and if necessary cross-examine the witnesses.

Witnesses from various parts of central British Columbia will assemble in Prince Rupert to give evidence concerning the freight rate situation along the northern portion of the Canadian National Railway. This will conclude the western portion of the inquiry.

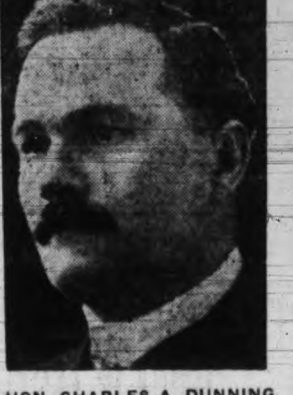

THORNTON'S WIFE IS GIVEN U.S. DIVORCE

Philadelphia, July 27.—A divorce has been granted to Virginia Thornton of Newcastle, Pa., wife of Sir Henry W. Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways. Action was instituted some months ago in the courts of Pennsylvania and a final decree has now been entered. The ground of divorce was continuous incompatibility of temperament.

Philip Goodwin in Court in New York

New York, July 27.—Philip A. Goodwin, said to be a former minister, was remanded to a cell to-day after a hearing on a charge of his being a fugitive from justice in connection with a murder committed in Santa Ana, California, was postponed until to-morrow. His attorney claimed mistaken identity, but the court refused to dismiss the complaint.

NEW PLANS TO END LIQUOR SMUGGLING

Agreement Just Made Between U.S. and Great Britain Has Eight Points

Machinery to Carry Out Proposals is Soon to be Set Up

London, July 27.—The United States-British anti-smuggling running discussion here was ended to-day with a complete agreement on eight far-reaching recommendations to hinder liquor smuggling to the United States.

The task of setting up machinery to administer these recommendations, which emanated from both sides, will be started by Washington immediately.

Godfrey Locker Lampson, Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, read a statement to the House of Commons this afternoon outlining the agreement. Replying to a question whether the Dominions had been consulted, he said a representative of the Colonial Office had been present at all the meetings.

BAHAMA TRADE

The joint conference inter-departmental memorandum, in which the recommendations are stated, has been approved by both the Washington and London Governments. It covers the "practical working agreement" between the two governments and is aimed at the Bahamas, and then to reduce other Trans-Atlantic trade shipments.

LEFT SECRET
Washington, July 27.—The rum smuggling agreement reached between Brig-General Andrews and the British Government is to be kept secret for the present.

Secretary Kellogg said to-day that "for obvious reasons," it was not desirable to publish the text of the agreement until it had been put into effect.

TEXAS IS TO HAVE MAN AS GOVERNOR

Mrs. Miriam Ferguson to Re-sign as Result of Democratic Primary Election

Austin, Texas, July 27.—Dan Moody, youthful Titan-haired Attorney-General, has forced the Ferguson of Texas into the first phase of a political eclipse after several years in which they dominated the Lone Star State's Democratic politics.

Moody's vote in Saturday's primary, coupled with an announcement yesterday by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson that she would resign from office probably by November 1, virtually assures his occupation of the Governor's chair next January.

Attorney-General Moody led by more than 100,000 votes. Mrs. Ferguson had promised to resign if Moody beat her by one vote, and he had promised to resign if she led him by 25,000 votes.

The man who will succeed Mrs. Ferguson as Governor for two months, if her resignation becomes effective about November 1, is Lieut.-Governor Barry Miller, an attorney of Dallas.

DODGE ESTATE IS $20,000,000

New York, July 27.—The will of Cleveland H. Dodge, financier and philanthropist, who died on June 24, filed for probate here to-day, disclosed an estate of $20,000,000.

MANY SERVICES IN MEXICAN CHURCHES

Rev. L. Pratt, who is in Brazil on a church mission. The order was approved by President Grant, who received the telegram from Haymer.

LATTER DAY SAINTS
Salt Lake City, July 27.—When the law governing religious matters in Mexico goes into effect, all American-born missionaries of the Church of Christ, Latter Day Saints, will leave the country.

Some seventy men and women are affected by the order, about half of them being in the interior of the country, while the remainder reside on the U.S. side of the border, but across the line at times, to work among the natives. They have been instructed to cease their work on the Mexican side of the border.

Orders directing these missionaries to leave the country were issued by Kenneth Haymer of El Paso, Mexico, in the absence of President Grant.

Rev. L. Pratt, who is in Brazil on a church mission. The order was approved by President Grant, who received the telegram from Haymer.

The exodus of the missionaries does not affect the five church colonies at Juarez, Durban, Garcia, Mexico and Pacheco, President Grant said.

U. S.-born instructors in the schools at these places left the country several months ago, when the Mexican Government first began its campaign against foreign-born church workers.

C.N.R. SHOWS BIG INCREASE IN EARNINGS

Montreal, July 27.—An increase of $11,114,314.69, or 296.99 per cent, in the net earnings for the first six months of 1926 as compared with the same period of last year is shown in the financial statement of the Canadian National Railways for the period of January 1 to June 30, 1926.

This statement also shows the highest gross earnings for any first-half year since consolidated system figures were set up in June, 1922, and the highest gross and net earnings for any June since that time.

U. S. STATUE IN PARIS SMASHED

Paris, July 27.—A Russian named Garmenko, armed with a hammer, to-day smashed the statue in the Place des Etats Unis, erected in memory of U. S. United States soldiers who volunteered with the French forces in 1918.

The statue represents an American and a Frenchman clasping hands. Garmenko was arrested.

DOMINANT PRAIRIE LEADER TO FOLLOW HIS VANCOUVER TRIUMPH WITH ISLAND SPEECH

Liberal Campaign Gets Off to Inspiring Start at Great Vancouver Rally; Get Together With Prairie Provinces in Real Western Programme, is Former Railway Minister's Message to B.C.; This Province Must be Made Front Door Instead of Back Door of Canada, He Declares.

Hon. Charles Dunning, recognized as the most dominant figure in the public life of the prairie provinces, will carry the Liberal Party's campaign into this territory with a mass meeting in Victoria during the next few weeks. Announcement that Mr. Dunning would come to the Coast to address Victorians was made to-day, following the Liberal rally in Vancouver last night when the former Railway Minister addressed a great audience in the Vancouver Hotel ballroom.

With the Liberal campaign in British Columbia launched at last night's meeting, party leaders are pressing forward their plans to-day. Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works in the Mackenzie King Government, and representative of British Columbia in the late Ottawa and Cabinet, arrived here this afternoon to confer with Vancouver Island Liberals.

He will address a meeting of Liberal workers at the Liberal headquarters to-morrow night before leaving again for the mainland. While this will be a hurried visit, Dr. King will return here with Mr. Dunning and Hon. Charles Stewart, former Minister of the Interior, to speak with them at a mass meeting.

Last night's meeting in Vancouver, featured by Mr. Dunning's address, sent the Liberal campaign off to a rousing start, captured the imagination of the terminus of the westward thrust at the Conservative Liberal in the lower mainland.

In the coming election British Columbia voters will vote to decide whether they are going to scrap a government which reduced taxation $114,000,000 a year and saved the country business at unprecedented figures, and in its place install a party which demands greater taxation as a panacea for all national problems.

This is the vital issue of the Federal Poll. Mr. Dunning declared amid cheers, Canada, he said, must choose between the Liberal policy of development and the Conservative "pull-yourself-up-by-your-bootstraps" policy of crushing tariff taxation.

British Columbia, he urged, should get together with the prairie provinces, making itself the front door instead of the back door of Canada. And whatever else it might do, the prairie, he added, would not vote for the Conservative Party, for Premier Meighen or for his Liberal opponents.

Mr. Dunning's appearance before a Vancouver audience was a striking triumph. Enthusiasm such as is seldom witnessed in Canada in the excitement of a political campaign swept the audience which jammed the hall. Cheers after cheer greeted the prairie leader as he explained the aims of his party.

With Mr. Dunning were Dr. King and Mr. Stewart, who also outlined the issues of the contest. Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., president of the British Columbia Liberal Association, presided.

OLDEST INDIAN IN PROVINCE IS DEAD

Dick Quilquimston of Local Reserve Said to be 104 Years Old

Dick Quilquimston, reputed to be 104 years of age and the oldest Indian in British Columbia, died suddenly last evening at his home on the Esquimalt reserve. He was highly respected and was well-known to the old-timers of this city and district.

He is survived by two sons, one daughter and four grandchildren. The remains are resting at the home of his son, Joseph Dick, pending funeral arrangements which are in the hands of the Thomson Funeral Home.

AGED MAN WAS KILLED ON ROAD

Melville, Sask., July 27.—Gustave Porcher, seventy-seven, of this district, was killed and twelve others suffered shock and minor injuries as the result of a collision between two cars about twenty miles from here. Both cars were traveling at fair rates of speed and in attempting to pass on the narrow highway they struck. The cars were overturned, all the occupants being thrown out.

$100,000 FIRE IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Campbellton, N.B., July 27.—Property loss approaching the $100,000 mark was caused by a fire here last night which for a time threatened to wipe out the east end of this town. A burning rink, a shingle shed and seven dwellings were burned.

The village was without electrical power as the result of part of the hydro transmission lines going down.

READY TO RESIGN

Commenting on the decision, the federation secretary, A. J. Cook, said it should not be taken as a sign of weakness. For himself, he did not desire to oppose the men's will if they wished to work eight hours, but he announced his intention of resigning before he would carry out instructions to sign an agreement to that effect.

David Lloyd George initiated debate in the House of Commons yesterday for the purpose of trying to induce the Government to seek peace through the intervention offered by Anglican bishops, but the debate apparently did nothing to hasten resumption of work by the miners.

Two More Cases of Feminine Illness Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Barrington, N. S.—"I had terrible feelings, headaches, back and side aches and pains all over my body. I would have to go to bed every month and nothing would do me good. My husband and my father did my work for me as I have two children and we have quite a big place. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then got a little book about it through the mail, and my husband sent to Eaton's and got me a bottle, and then we got more from the store. I am feeling fine now and do all my work and am able to go out around here. I tell my friends it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that makes me feel so well." Mrs. VICTOR RICHARDSON, Barrington, Nova Scotia.

Dull Pains in Back

St. Thomas, Ont.—"I took four bottles of Lydia E. VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IS GIVEN POINCARE

First Division in Chamber Since New French Ministry Formed 358 to 131

Indirect Taxation to be Increased: Stores of Wealth to Pay More

Paris, July 27.—Premier Poincaré's new Government was given a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

The vote, which came after the reading of the ministerial declaration of policy, was on the question of adjourning all interpellations until the financial bill had been discussed and passed. The Premier asked that this be done and the matter be made one of confidence in the Government.

The vote was 358 in favor of the Government and 131 against.

The declaration began with the affirmation that the Ministry had been formed in a spirit of "national reconciliation," with the object of saving the franc.

"We are profoundly convinced that it is possible to improve the conditions of French finances rapidly and raise the value of the national currency," the declaration said.

TAX INCREASES
Indirect taxation would be increased, the declaration said, but at the same time direct taxation would be imposed upon acquired wealth to form a repayment fund for the national defence bonds.

An appeal was made in "clear-sighted patriotism" to shorten discussion by voluntary discipline.

DEBT SETTLEMENT
In its first reference to the International debt settlement, the declaration said:

"The nations which are our creditors and whom France has the firm will to pay within every measure of her capacity have as great an interest in our recovery as we have in theirs. It is possible to calm its violence and to annihilate its dangerous effects."

The declaration concluded:

"France has known greater and more painful hours than the present. She saved herself by union and energy. To-day again victory is subordinate to the same conditions. Let us immediately begin the heavy task for the republic for the country."

LOUD DEMONSTRATION
Premier Poincaré was greeted at the opening of the Chamber's session with a tremendous uproar among the Communists which lasted fifteen minutes. The chamber was only quieted when the deputies at the right and centre threatened to expel the manifestants bodily and M. Peret, president of the Chamber, declared he would suspend the sitting if order were not restored.

Perhaps So is First Horse in Goodwood Race

Goodwood Park, Eng., July 27.—Perhaps so, owned by "Dawson" Lady Nunburnholme, won the Stewards' Cup, a six-furlong handicap, here to-day. The race was the feature of the opening day of the "Glorious Goodwood" meet, with King George and other members of the royal family in attendance.

Colonel Berken's Edwin, A. was second, and Mrs. J. Hancock's Purple Shade third. Twenty-nine horses ran.

The race was for 1,600 guineas, with extras in addition to the Stewards' Cup.

Perhaps so, at 100 to 6, won by a length and a half, while a half-length separated Edwin, A. and Purple Shade, at 50 to 1 and 100 to 7 against, respectively.

There are three medium-sized potatoes in one pound. This will make about two cups of mashed potato. One bushel of potatoes weighs sixty pounds.

One bushel of peaches will yield about eighteen quart cans.

Four rather small tomatoes weigh about one pound. A bushel of tomatoes will give about eighteen quarts or thirty-six pints of canned tomatoes.

These are all averages, of course, but may give you some sort of working basis from which to reckon.

OH, MR. ROTHSCHILD!

Paris, July 27.—Maurice De Rothschild, multi-millionaire member of the French Chamber of Deputies and a scion of the famous firm of continental bankers, has been unseated because of charges that he "bought" election by buying drinks for his constituents.

The vote to unseat him last night was 209 to 86. Rothschild announced that he would immediately seek reelection.

Columbia River Company Suffers Losses in Fires Near Moberly, B.C.

Two Men Reported Missing Are Believed to Have Been Found

Revelstoke, July 27.—Camp No. 3 of the Columbia River Lumber Company, located near Moberly, was destroyed last night and the forest fire raging near Donald continued unchecked, according to information reaching here this morning.

At Leaneholie, thirty-four miles west of Donald, a fire of considerable extent is giving trouble. At one time yesterday this fire was reported as having spread four miles in fifteen minutes, blanketing the entire countryside in a thick pall of smoke.

No information is available concerning two men reported missing in the fire at Golden yesterday, and it is presumed they have been found.

Thermometer Hits 100 AT "THE HAT"

Hot Weather on Prairies Forcing Premature Ripening of Grain Crops

Winnipeg, July 27.—Prairie weather map to-day shows high temperatures during the last twenty-four hours with Edmonton 88, Calgary 84, Brooks 92, Medicine Hat 100, Foremost 92, Swift Current 98, Moose Jaw 92, Regina 93, Saskatoon 97.

Crop expert Leconte wired from Regina to-day: "This territory has splendid crop, wheat of good stand and prospects to-day indicate lots of 20 to 25 bushel-an-acre fields. Weather is hot and unfavorable. Soil is dry and the crop is maturing too rapidly for the best results. Unless rain and cooler weather occurs the crop will deteriorate considerably before it is ripe."

Lethbridge, July 27.—Hot weather is causing premature ripening, and harvest will be general here in two weeks. Rain is needed badly in western and northeastern Saskatchewan.

On the outcome of the battle between 4,000 Syrian rebels, reinforced by Druses, and 10,000 French troops, hinges the future of the French mandate in Syria.

Should the French army defeat the insurgents, the backbone of the Syrian revolution will be broken, Damascus relieved and law and order restored in Syria.

If, however, the French should fall and the rebels continue to hold the Ghouta Gardens and besiege Damascus, French prestige, already greatly injured, would suffer and make it more difficult for the French to pacify the country, which remains in a state of open revolt.

HOW MUCH TO BUY

By SISTER MARY

When we go to market and particularly a roadside market, we sometimes wonder how much to buy. Or when our grocer tells us peas are so much a pound, we wonder how many pounds it will take to serve our family.

And when we buy for canning with the sole idea of economy, if we have no idea how many cans we should get from a bushel we sometimes find our endeavor pure extravagance.

Perhaps these calculations will help you, but you must remember that the quality of any produce you are buying is a large factor in determining how much the material will yield when cooked.

One pound of green or "string" beans measures approximately one quart and yields about 2½ cups of cooked beans. This will serve five persons.

Two pounds of green peas in the pod measure about two quarts. After shelling there will be about 2½ cups. This amount will serve three or four persons, depending somewhat on the manner in which they are prepared. If the peas are cooked dry and buttered, only three persons can be served, but if milk and cream is added four can be taken care of.

One pound of clean, tender spinach will serve four. Market men figure that a bushel of spinach weighs from fifteen to twenty pounds, with a good average of eighteen. If you are canning spinach it will take about 1½ pounds of spinach to make a pint can.

Baby beets vary greatly in size, but it is safe to calculate on twelve quarts for four persons. It will take from twelve to fifteen to make two cups or fill a pint can. A large variety needs only three and sometimes fewer ears to make a pint can of corn.

There are three medium-sized potatoes in one pound. This will make about two cups of mashed potato. One bushel of potatoes weighs sixty pounds.

One bushel of peaches will yield about eighteen quart cans.

Four rather small tomatoes weigh about one pound. A bushel of tomatoes will give about eighteen quarts or thirty-six pints of canned tomatoes.

These are all averages, of course, but may give you some sort of working basis from which to reckon.

LIKE AN EAR OF CORN
From these seeds Johnston has created new fruits and has developed others heretofore thought impossible to raise in this country.

One of Johnston's creations is the "ice cream vine," botanically known as the monstera deliciosa. The fruit resembles a large ear of corn with the husk and the fruit that is picked off like the corn tastes like a combination of ripe bananas, strawberries and pineapple.

Another of his favorites is an orange-like fruit he calls Strychnos spinosa. The fruit, however, has so hard a rind that it has to be saved in two. Within is a delicious juicy pulp of a peach flavor and seeds that contain the poison strychnine.

NOVA SCOTIA IS PRESSING CLAIMS

Halifax, July 27 (Canadian Press)

Continuing the presentation of Nova Scotia's case before the Royal Commission investigating the situation of the Maritime Provinces within the Canadian Confederation, Lieut.-Colonel E. C. Phinney yesterday reviewed the claims of the province with regard to Federal grants and debt allowances, Western lands and boundary extensions.

Colonel Phinney contended that the principle applied at Confederation had been departed from in the case of the formation of the provinces of

LIBERAL FIGHT HERE

PROMINENT MEN ATTENDED
Leading men of the Liberal Party of the province graced the platform, most of whom were in the city to attend the Liberal executive meeting during the day. Among the members were Hon. J. D. Macdonald, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Hon. A. M. Manson, Dugald Donaghy, H. G. Perry, M.P.P., Dr. E. J. Rothwell, M.P.P., Brig. General V. W. Odium, M.P.P., and Chris McRae, M.P.P.

Hon. C. A. Dunning is a most effective platform man. With ready wit he ridiculed his political opponents, showed himself more than able to take care of any hecklers, pleased his audience with a number of epigrammatic sentences and drove home his argument with great vigor of expression and convincing manner.

He dealt at length with the customs inquiry, detailed items in the budget and income tax legislation as reasons for support of the Liberal Party and dealt with the constitutional issue.

THE FRONT DOOR
The speaker opened with an appeal to the British Columbia coast to co-operate with the prairies and be the front door of the Canadian West.

British Columbia, he said, had often been referred to as the back door of Canada. Whatever else the prairies might do politically on September 14, it would be, anti-Tory, anti-Melchior.

He suggested the people of this Province should co-operate with those of the Prairies "not only in an economic sense."

NEW DEVELOPMENT
"That form of co-operation," he continued, "is developing as between the Midwestern plains and the people of the Coast—all too slowly. I may say, but developing, nevertheless. You require to co-operate with the people of the Prairies politically, too, in order that your mutual interests may be advanced by a solid body of men in the House of Commons."

"You depend on us—the Prairies, and we are coming more and more to depend upon you. When your representatives go down to Ottawa they require to be able to sit around the same table in mutual conference with the representatives of the Prairies with the representatives of the other parts of Canada having similar ideas for national development and their hammered-out policies for Canada, and having particular reference to the parts of Canada from which they come."

MEMBERS' DUTIES
"There is no necessity for a man to be parochial. There is no necessity for a man merely to consider his constituency from which he comes. It is possible for him to reconcile his duty to that constituency with the larger duties he owes to the nation as a whole. Politically, I can tell you this: that whatever else the Prairies do on September 14 they will be anti-Tory. They will be anti-Melchior, and if British Columbia wants to march shoulder to shoulder with the men and women from the Prairies, let British Columbia study why the Prairies do as they do politically."

"There is a reason. The reason lies in our economic history and in our economic development. We know why we act as we do and when we say to you that you are connected with us with indissoluble ties when we say you are destined to play a greater part in co-operating with us in the future than you have in the past, we invite you to come in with us in order that our mutual ideas of a Canadian policy should prevail in this country."

TRADE INCREASE
After referring to the blue ruin that went from one Canadian to the other in the general election last year, Mr. Dunning said that when the last fiscal year closed it was clear that the policies of the last four years had resulted in steadily building up Canadian trade, Canadian industry and Canadian agriculture so much so that at the end of the last fiscal year, in March last, the Liberal Government were enabled to say that Canadian exports in the preceding year had sold more than $400,000,000 worth more than they had bought."

Last October, he said, blue ruin was the Tory cry and more taxation was recommended as the policy that would save the country. "A sort of lift-yourself-by-your-bootstraps policy." After the Liberal administration, however, the Canadian dollar was now at par and the whole country was prosperous.

PROBLEM OF SMUGGLING
The Conservative issue this time, said Mr. Dunning, was the so-called customs inquiry and it was their plan to make it an election of condemnation and not construction.

"Why is there smuggling?" asked the speaker. "Smuggling exists because the Customs duties are high enough to put a premium on evading them. I'd hate to ask every man and woman in this room—"

At this point there was some laughter.

"I don't know what you are laughing at," continued Mr. Dunning smilingly, "but your very attitude is one of the things that makes this a problem. If I asked every man and woman how many would put their hands up? Not even in the Old Country do people think smuggling is as terrible as breaking any of the Ten Commandments."

PREMIER WAS THANKED
"With prohibition, higher tariff and improved method of transportation, smuggling gradually increased along the border between Canada and the United States. The merchants and some of the manufacturers formed the Commercial Protective Association and the Premier welcomed their advances, telling them to go ahead and the Government would render every assistance possible. Amendments to legislation suggested by it were put through the House as late as July, 1925, and the Toronto Board of Trade thanked the Prime Minister for the co-operation extended. Later an election was called and the head of the Commercial Protective Association became a politician and went out preaching Tory doctrines and from that time the trouble started."

MONTREAL DISMISSAL
Mr. Dunning said that when G. H. Bolvin became Minister of Customs he investigated statements and rumors regarding the Montreal customs office, as a result of which an official there was summarily dismissed. Records were seized by inspector Walter Duncan and the Duncan report was prepared.

"Why such a splurge, such a speech by your member for Vancouver Centre?" asked Mr. Dunning. "That speech contained nothing more than what Duncan had got acting on instructions from the Government. The member for Vancouver Centre never admitted he got the report, but suffice it to say the Tories were at work in every office."

Mr. Dunning declared there never was any charge that any member of the Liberal Government had profited in the customs frauds to the extent of one cent. Nothing, he added, had been found reflecting on members of the late Government.

POSITION OF PROGRESSIVES
The speaker created amusement with his description of the fate of the Progressives, who had to remain on the job at all times in the House because of the refusal of the Tories to let them out of the first time on record in any House in the Empire when a party refused to observe the gentlemanly amenities of parliamentary life."

RAILWAY QUESTION
The appointment of W. A. Black from the Maritime Provinces as Minister of Railways in the new Meighen Cabinet, the speaker said, was to pander to the idea that those who had been in the House for the first time on record in any House in the Empire when a party refused to observe the gentlemanly amenities of parliamentary life."

$100,000,000 IS URGED AS PRICE
FOR U.S. RAILWAY

Chicago, July 27.—One hundred million dollars has been suggested to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson as the minimum sale price for the bankrupt Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad by D. C. Swaine, representing Kahn, Loeb & Company and the National City Bank of New York.

GRAIN RIPENS TOO RAPIDLY

Lethbridge, July 27.—The hottest weather of the year is bringing the 1926 harvest in rather too rapidly. The Lethbridge Herald's fourteenth weekly crop report indicates that Spring wheat fields are beginning to turn and the harvest will be general in two weeks unless there is a widespread rain in the meantime. Total grain shipments will close approximately last year's, though in Southeastern Alberta the crops are poor and shipments will be light.

Move to Take Goodwin For California Trial

Santa Ana, Cal., July 27.—Two deputy sheriffs left here yesterday to bring back Rev. Philip A. Goodwin, actor-priest of the American Catholic Church, who was arrested in New York on suspicion of having murdered J. J. Patterson, a Los Angeles broker, whose party burned body was discovered in a river bed near here last March. The officers first went to Sacramento, where an extradition requisition was signed.

Winnipeg, July 27.—Samuel Scott, a pioneer of the prairies who for many years was associated with the agricultural interests of the country and was a prominent member of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, died yesterday.

PENALTIES FOR U.S.
ELECTION OFFICIALS

Chicago, July 27.—Fifteen election judges and clerks, one a woman, were cited for contempt for alleged fraudulent practices in connection with last April's primaries by County Judge Edmund Jarecki to-day.

Morris Eller, sanitary district trustee, testified that he knew nothing about any irregularities. He took with him the records of the Republican Club of his ward.

Eller waived immunity in appearing before the jury, which with another special jury preceding it has indicted more than 100 election officials. A score of election officials also testified.

At the request of the senatorial committee investigating campaign expenditures here, the record of ballots of senatorial candidates was rushed although yesterday's recount showed little variation from the original figures. It probably will be several days before there count of the votes for senator is completed.

EFFORT TO SETTLE
U.S. TEXTILE STRIKE

Pasadena, N.J., July 27.—Possibility of a settlement of the textile strike in this district, one of the longest struggles in United States industrial history, loomed to-day with the announcement in Washington by Senator Borah of Idaho that he would confer at his office with representatives of the strikers and mill owners.

A delegation headed by Albert Weisbord, chairman of the United Front Committee, called on the senator and arrangements were made for a conference. Colonel Charles F. H. Johnson, Forstmann and Hoffman Company official, telegraphed Senator Borah advising he would be present at the meeting.

INSPIRATIONAL SCENES AT VICTORIA SUMMER SCHOOL

Intensely human, supremely inspiring and wholly engrossing is the description inspired by a visit last week to the Summer School, held under the aegis of the Provincial Department of Education. Here are there gathered nearly four hundred teachers and students, hailing from different parts of the Province, some coming even from Edmonton and Calgary, each and every one seemingly intent on gaining all the information possible in the short space of five weeks, the full period of the school's duration. Prevailing throughout is there a bustle of movement, a going to and fro at the call of the bell for the commencement of each scheduled subject, the very atmosphere written with a seriousness of purpose, an eagerness and willingness to absorb, and with an unhesitating manner of entering into the several branches of learning, so essential for future use and for future dissemination in the schools of their appointment at the different districts of the Province. In this school's syllabus are classes in the arts and sciences, in the branches of literature and mathematics, in languages, in vocal demonstrations (at present instrumental music is not a part of its activities). This, however, is promised a place in next year's calendar, in cutting, fitting and sewing, in physical drills, Swedish exercises and calisthenics. There is also a large class present composed of boys and girls from the City public schools.

Most praiseworthy, too, and delightful to note were the enthusiasm, the keenness, the unsparring and kindly effort of the supervisors and teachers of the many classes, and the alertness, affability and able guidance of its director, Mr. John Kyle.

On the occasion in question a visit was especially made to the vocal class in the auditorium under Frederick Waddington, and to the physical drill and folk dances in the gymnasium hall under the Misses Cotsworth and Cussons. In the vocal demonstrations there were nearly eighty people present, some of whom had trained and conducted school choirs at the Vancouver Spring Musical Festival, and several were supervisors of music from far and near school districts. This large class gathers daily at eleven o'clock and Mr. Waddington, by example and blackboard, assisted by his very able accompanist, Miss Moreton, conducts his forces throughout in intelligent, discursive and authoritative fashion. Many examples were given of voice placing with the care that quality should be the aim always and not by the virtue of a big voice, in the effort of producing a big noise. Exceedingly interesting were the demonstrations of the "vowels," here, too, being emphasized that these should be produced in a clear liquid manner. Many phrases from the great composers are selected as examples. During the visit themes were chosen from folk songs and the Sanctus, "Lord God of Hosts," by Dr. Camidge, the instructor, particularly laying stress on the peculiar blessing sound of the letter "s" in the word "hosts," one fault, he pointed out, being the prolongation of the time beat. Another instructive detail was the matter of intensifying the vowel letter "o" in "glory," in its utterance and other important allusions. The class, as in all other instances, repeats the examples given. Another feature is the rendering of a song by a young lady vocalist, who, by the way, evinced much talent and possesses a sweetly sympathetic mezzo-soprano voice—performed before the class, the instructor having the class breathingly speak the words of the song rendered, pointing out the characteristic of the composition and the style, interpretation and delivery of the composition by the young singer. The rapt attention, keenness and closely imitable manner of those present were particularly noticeable. It was learned that there were few absentees from the class and not only were they thus striving for the certificate of credit given to all who attend the school and show proficiency, but that everyone, said Mr. Waddington, "showed great liking in their vocal work and were eager, eager and receptive members of his class."

Besides this is a similar but smaller body of singers, conducted by F. T. C. Wickett, who gives instruction in the subject of song-singing, sight-reading, rhythmic, vocal training, interpretation and musical history. Mr. Wickett's classes occupy three hours of the day, two in the morning and one in the afternoon.

The physical class in the gymnasium, numbering nearly fifty at the time of the visit, was engaged in some Swedish movements. All were in athletic costume and adhering to the regulations on the printed notices at the entrance to the hall: "All will enter the gym with appropriate footwear," were equipped with canvas shoes. Here, too, were noticed discipline, enthusiasm and strict attention to their instructors, combined with a smartness of execution in the complex movements and a cohesive finish truly surprising in the short space of two weeks.

The well-conducted, spotlessly clean and spacious cafeteria is well-managed and proves a great convenience to all concerned, diversified, and are ample, seasonable, diversified, and the cooking is most excellent. The whole affair is a splendid indoor "picnic" combining change, pleasure, learning, a commingling of kindred spirits, and an interchange of thought and timely suggestion frequently of much importance in a noble and beautiful profession.

VICTORIA RECEIVES VALUABLE PUBLICITY

Western Organ Extols the Beauties of Vancouver Island

"The Gateway to an Island of Marvelous Beauty." Thus is Victoria described in the latest issue of The Western Recorder, the organ of the United Church of Canada, published at Vancouver, which devotes a special supplement in paying tribute to the beauties of Victoria and Vancouver Island.

The front cover of the issue is illustrated by a full length picture of the Parliament Buildings, taken through a familiar setting, the popular trees on Government Street, and showing the lawns and hedges bordering the drive.

A supplement inside deals with the charms of Victoria, its history and legends ably described by the editor and equally well illustrated by a number of clear engravings. The astrophysical observatory at Little Saanich Mountain, the Crystal Garden, Beacon Hill Park and Butchart's Gardens are all well depicted as well as a number of up-land scenes including Strathcona National Park, Campbell River Falls, Nanaimo River, Malahat Drive and a picture of some of the forest giants of the Island.

All the engravings for the article were supplied by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, whose good work in advertising the city is extending everywhere.

STRIKE LOSSES

London, July 27.—The coal strike in Great Britain and the recent general strike cost the industries of the nation about £150,000,000, according to Arthur Samuel, Parliamentary Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department. Mr. Samuel, replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, said his estimate included a loss of £40,000,000 to the mining industry.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

THIS SEEMS LIKE A POOR DIET, doesn't it every four hours, it would be better?

Mrs. H. G. E. writes:

"My baby girl is four and one-half months old and weighs a little over eleven pounds. She is very good, and sleeps well and almost never cries. I feed her two and one-half ounces of a malt food every three hours and she seems satisfied."

"I am told that she should have orange juice as she is apt to have rickets. She cannot keep it down. Every few days I try to give it to her and she spits it up. She takes prune juice all right. I cannot even get her to take cool boiled water, she spits it right out."

"The baby is slightly constipated and I use milk of magnesia, for that which is generally successful. She also gets cod liver oil daily."

"She cannot sit alone as yet and her back seems weak. Is her weight all right? Do you think if I give her

ANSWER

The surprising thing is that your baby is satisfied on such a meager diet. At four months a baby can easily take five and one-half or six ounces of food every four hours, and this should be, in addition to the malt food, which is only a part of the formula, fresh cows milk and boiled water. Without the cow's milk I am afraid you are simply courting trouble, rickets and otherwise. Babies cannot get along without milk in some form, and if your baby's diet is just the malt food she cannot possibly be receiving the essentials for growth and development."

The baby really shows no inability to digest orange juice, since she acts toward the water exactly as she acts toward the juice. Won't you write for leaflet No. 6, this may help you in correcting that tendency to spit out foods."

The baby is not a good weight, twelve pounds being the average for three months. I would change the diet, continue the cod liver oil, try tomato juice instead of the orange juice, and do not urge the baby to sit up until her back is strong enough."

Please ask for the No. 3 leaflet also.

WINNIPEG ARTISTE
TO GIVE DRAMATIC
RECITAL HERE SOON

An announcement of interest to many Victorians is that of a dramatic recital to be given by Edythe McAdam Yates of Winnipeg in Fairfield United Church on Tuesday evening, August 3. Miss Yates has been giving recitals in the larger Western cities, and the press comments on her performances are very flattering and all praise this gifted artist's dramatic ability. She will give "The Florist Shop," a one-act comedy by Winnifred Hawkrice, also a character play, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," by Sir Jas. M. Barrie. The harmonica quartette will assist in the programme.

Metropolitan Garden Party. The Ladies' Aid of Metropolitan Church will hold a garden party to-morrow from 3 to 6 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. De Baid, Sunset Avenue. The beautiful surroundings of this home will well repay a visit. For day car line terminus is near Sunset Avenue.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WEDDED

Many Attended Pretty Ceremony and Reception Near Brentwood Yesterday

Brentwood, July 27.—A wedding of considerable interest took place at the Sluggitt Memorial Baptist Church last evening when Winona Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Parson, old-time residents of Saanich, was united in marriage to James Edgar Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miles of Camrose Crescent, Victoria.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. T. Tapscott, pastor of the church. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. F. W. Sluggitt, Miss Shirley Sluggitt and Miss Myrtle Snider, and the church had been transformed into a bower of beauty with masses of ferns, Shasta daisies and dahlias, a large floral bell forming the central feature of the scheme.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of white tulle, made in long-waisted style with a lace bodice, ornamented at intervals with circles of narrow tulle ruffles, and with pearls; the soft-folded girdle was caught at the front with a pearl ornament. She wore an embroidered tulle veil held in place with a band of pearls and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and maidenhair fern.

The maid of honor, Miss Agnes Parson, sister of the bride, wore a gown of powder blue flat crepe beautifully embroidered in cream, blue and gold, with a hair band of tulle, and her bouquet was pink gladioli. Miss Lenore Miles, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid, attired in peach tulle and tulle of the same shade, with hair band of tulle and carrying blue hydrangeas.

Little Lorna Thomson was a winsome flower girl in a frock of mauve crepe and dainty hair band to match, and carried a silver basket of mauve and pink sweet peas. Norman Parson was best man.

The bridal music was played by Miss Madeleine Sluggitt, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Tapscott sang very sweetly "Bridal Dawn."

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Anchorage Tea Gardens, which was tastefully decorated with baskets of gladioli.

The bride couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Parson, in an embroidered gown of navy blue crepe with close fitting hat in shade of rose du Barry, and the mother of the groom, whose gown was of sand crepe with hat to match.

A buffet supper was served from a table centred with the four-tiered wedding cake.

The happy couple left by the midnight boat for Vancouver, and will motor as far south as Portland, returning to take up their residence in Victoria.

The bride's going-away gown was of printed crepe in shades of rose-de-bois, with small hat to match, with which she wore a black satin coat trimmed with squirrel.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beaded bag; to the maid of honor a vanity case, a necklace to the bride, and a chain and pendant to the flower girl, while the best man was presented with gold cuff links.

Many useful and handsome gifts were received by the young couple, among which was a silver tea service and tray from the staff of the Department of Agriculture, of which the bride has been a member for several years.

PIONEER ATTAINS NINETIETH YEAR

Mrs. Elsie Sinclair, who first came to Victoria in 1859, received many congratulations on Sunday when she reached the ripe age of ninety years. She is the widow of William Sinclair, who was for many years in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company here, and who died in 1899 at Fort Fraser, where he was Chief Factor.

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR

By NINON

Katherine Burke showing how to brush the eyebrows

SYMPTOMS—Scant, scraggly condition of the eyebrows, instead of a normal luxuriant growth.

DIAGNOSIS—This is often the result of improper diet. Or the same condition which prevails on the scalp and causes the hair to fall may be responsible. Usually local attention is sufficient.

TREATMENT—Invest in some white vaseline and an eyebrow brush—a few cents only. Brush the brows night and morning, and then rub over the surface with the vaseline. This stimulates circulation and encourages growth. Pulling the brows strengthens them if you aren't too vigorous about it. Just take a portion firmly between the thumb and forefinger and pull with an even pressure—not a jerk. If a few finger in your grasp, don't worry, as others will grow in to take their places.

C. Morrow and Mr. Clifton G. Brown, which took place in New Westminster on Saturday.

Mrs. John Mackenzie of Vancouver, B.C., and Mrs. J. W. Shera of Edmonton, Alberta, are guests at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown announce the engagement of their only daughter, Queenie Winnifred, to John James Donaldson, second son of Mrs. Robina Donaldson of San Francisco, California.

Rev. A. K. McMinn and Mrs. McMinn arrived in the city yesterday from the East. They are spending a few days among friends in the city before proceeding to their new charge in Kelowna, B.C. Mr. McMinn will speak briefly at the mid-week service to-morrow night in Metropolitan Church.

The christening ceremony of Victoria Joan, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hayward, took place at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday, July 25, the Very Reverend C. S. Quinton officiating. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Stokes and Mrs. Sheldon of Vancouver. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the parents at Heath Drive.

Miss Rachel Ard, O.B.E., J.P., of Tunbridge Wells, England, who is touring the Dominion in the interests of the Kent Overseas Settlement Committee, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Ard, St. Louis Avenue, for a short time. Miss Ard is sister of the Rev. J. A. Ard, former curate of St. John's Church, and was a resident of Victoria over twenty years ago.

A quiet wedding was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Russell Street, when Janet Lillian, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Homans, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Edwards, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards of Newfoundland. Only immediate relatives of the contracting parties attended the ceremony, the Rev. Dr. Arthur F. Barron of the New Thought Temple officiating. The bride in the absence of her father was given in marriage by her mother, and she wore a gown of orchid green, simple and fashioned, trimmed with touches of gold embroidery, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Mrs. Bert A. Court of Vancouver, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor, and was crowned in a dainty frock of mauve flat crepe combined with silver lace. She carried a bouquet of snapdragons and fern. Wm. Homans of Vancouver supported the groom. Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride travelled in a gown of mist grey, georgette and tulle, over which was worn a wrap of French blue squirrel trimmed with black satin. Among the numerous presents received was a handsome silver tea and coffee service from the office staff of the B.C. Telephone Company, where the bride has held the position of head cashier for the past seven years. Several delightfully arranged showers have been given in her honor recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Johnson and their daughter, Miss Loraine Johnson, of Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver, are visiting in the city.

PEACH SALAD

Four fresh peaches, 1/2 cup white grapes, 1/2 cup fresh strawberries, 2 tablespoons blanched and shredded almonds, 1 package Neufchâtel cheese, 2 tablespoons cream, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons curdant jelly, 1/2 cup whipping cream.

Chill peaches, but do not peel until ready to use. Cut grapes in halves and remove seeds. Hull berries and cut in quarters. Mash cheese, working in cream and lemon juice. Season with salt and pepper and beat in jelly. Chill while whipping cream and peeling the peaches. Cut each in quarters, cutting deep enough to remove the stone, but not separating the quarters. Place each peach cup in a cup of crisp washed and thoroughly dried lettuce. Combine berries, grapes, almonds, cheese mixture and whipped cream. Fill peaches with this mixture and serve.

VICTORIA WILL URGE CHANGES AT UNION MEET

Two-year Term Proposal For Mayoral Office Finds Council Opposition

Resolutions to be placed before the Union of B. C. Municipalities by Victoria were considered and passed by the city council in session last night, acting on the report of the legislative committee.

The city will seek the inclusion in the municipal act of amendments tightening up conditions in regard to inspection of electric light and power wiring, with a view to additional safeguards, and the provisions of fees for inspections.

Amendments to the municipal act encouraging zoning of industrial areas are sought in another resolution dealing with the business use of premises in residential areas.

Power to create traffic islands and other aids to congested street thoroughfares, is sought in a further motion to be advanced by Victoria delegates.

The council voted down a suggestion that leave be sought to invest sinking funds in the securities of B. C. or other Canadian municipal bonds. The provision now as to investment only in Government bonds was a wise one and should stand, it was agreed.

A two-year term for mayor in those centres where aldermen may sit for the two-year period found considerable opposition, and may not be brought before the convention to be held at Vernon shortly.

The clarification of city title to lands acquired on miscellaneous agents of sale, soldiers' housing contracts, and by other means is sought in another motion that found general approval last night.

Lillian Finds Holiday Air Invigorating

By LILLIAN CANNON

Cap Gris Nez, France, July 22—From where I sit on the beach, I can look across to the white cliffs of the English coast which fairly sparkle in the sunshine. They do not seem very far, but I never want to reach them except by swimming across.

During the clear moonlight now, the brilliant Dover light appears even closer. Its intermittent flashes seem to beckon, a friendly signal.

I can wait a favorable day to get over there because I am passionately fond of the noisy city life I have always known that I find the change comforting and invigorating. Except for the holiday visitors at the Hotel de la Sirène, there are only a few peasants and fisher-folk about here. The broad beach stretches five miles to Wilson, which is a larger village between here and Calais, and at low tide I often walk there and back.

I love the French countryside and enjoy rambling about the quaint little farming places. The people are so friendly and kind that the days are short, and the water is getting warmer and it will not be long before I can make an attempt.

I am running into very satisfactory conditions. I make it a practice to swim twice a day, when the tides are running. I usually swim hard for an hour or more. A rowboat with a sail attachment accompanies me, so I have no apprehension in swimming far out. When the water gets a little better, I am going to take longer swims, which will be real endurance tests to equip me for the long grind.

But one cannot swim all the time. I have taken up golf. I find it exhilarating. We have laid out a course of four or five holes on the beach. Probably Bobby Jones formations form natural bunkers, and it is plenty sporting enough for me.

Visitors like to watch me swim, but they get many good laughs watching me play golf. But I don't care. I enjoy it, and when my friends beat me I invite them to swim with me, so that keeps them quiet.

Also I am trying to learn French, which is even more difficult than golf. I take lessons from Monsieur Leloir and Madame Leloir, who conduct the hotel; also from the vivacious Louise, the cashier. They are all charming, and we are great friends. Monsieur has bought an American flag, and it flies over the hotel in my honor.

Scotch people in Canada who have visited the ancient University of St. Andrews will be delighted with a little book which contains sixteen reproductions from lovely pencil drawings and etchings of that old seat of learning and its environs by Malcolm Patterson. The letterpress consists of two poems specially contributed by Rudyard Kipling, rector of St. Andrews, 1922 to 1925, and Walter de la Mare, LL.D., St. Andrews, 1923. The little book, entitled "St. Andrews," is published by the Macmillan Company, Toronto.

Mr. Kipling's poem is entitled "A Rector's Memory." The second stanza is as follows:

He shall see, as he tenders his vows,
The far, guarded city arise—
The power of the North 'twixt her quarters,
The steel of the North in her eyes,
The sheer hosts of Heaven above—
The grey warlock ocean beside,
And shall feel the filled centuries
move
To her purpose and pride

Walter de la Mare's poem, "A Memory," is the better of the two. Its last four stanzas are as follows:

Keeps she for me, then, safe-enshrined—
Cold of the north—those bleached
grey streets;
Grey skies, a glinting sun, a wind
From climes where sea with ocean
meets;
And ruinous walls by tempests pined.

There history in romance doth hide:
Martyr and saint, Piet, Scot, Cuidee;
They dared, fought, suffered,
dreamed and died.
Yet of their long wild centuries
Left but these stones their bones beside.

Ghosts in that sunlight come and go:
Columba, David, Margaret,
Bothwell the fierce, dark Rizzio,
And she, caught fast in fate's net,
venture.

Murderer Was Killed by Posse

Little Marais, Minn., July 27.—Bulleted by the posse of the sheriff, yesterday the hunt for John Westblade, who fled into the timber near here after killing two highway patrolmen last Friday and caused a price of $2,500 to be posted for him, "dead or alive."

Westblade apparently became crazed when the two patrolmen—Alvin Toffe and Sigurd Icke—removed a sign he had placed on the highway offering his farm for sale.

Before he fled, authorities said, he fired his house and destroyed his apple orchard.

A coroner's jury quickly charged him with the double slaying.

Habitually he wore two revolvers and when he fled he also had a rifle.

Movie of New Light Heavy-weight Champion Winning Crown

"Well, how 'bout it, Paul?" Delaney seems to be thinking as they square away. And Paul is set to start something.

There goes a left lead, with Berlenbach ready to follow it up with a right to Jack's ribs—Paul's favorite stunt.

Back into a clinch goes Paul, ducking under Jack's tightly clamped arm as Referee Crowley moves to separate 'em.

A sock to the head greets Delaney as he boxes in, but it's a feeble one for Berlenbach's steam is low.

A new champion, fans! And there were few to disagree as the judges raised Jack's hand after the fifteenth bell.

Baby Fell Forty Feet; is Unhurt

BERNARD SHAW IS HONORED IN LONDON

Writer is Guest at Dinner on His Seventieth Birthday

London, July 27.—None of the smaller rooms in the House of Commons was large enough to accommodate George Bernard Shaw's seventieth birthday party last night except perhaps the House of Commons itself, and as the members could hardly be expected to adjourn their debate on the national coal strike, G. B. S.'s friends and admirers, headed by the former Labor Premier, Ramsay MacDonald, gathered in the Metropole Hotel.

Mr. MacDonald, with Mr. and Mrs. Shaw seated on either side of him, presented the guest of honor to a distinguished company of Labor movement leaders, literateurs and intellectuals. Mr. MacDonald voiced a strong protest against the British Government's refusal to permit Mr. Shaw's speech to be broadcast unless a pledge was given that it would not be on controversial topics.

Speaking with marked vigor and vitality, after a tremendous outburst of being treated as a great man seemed about to overtake him.

NO GREAT MEN
"The Labor Party," he went on, "has discovered the secret that there are no great men and no great nations. All that kind of humbug was left to the nineteenth century, where it properly belongs. Get rid of the great men and you will get rid of the great nations, and then perhaps we shall all be happy."

NOT BROADCAST
Early in his speech Mr. Shaw referred to the fact that his remarks were not being broadcast. Ramsay MacDonald had explained how the British Broadcasting Company had desired to cancel its musical programme in order to get Shaw on the air. But government permission was not forthcoming.

MacDonald gave a guarantee the speech would not be controversial. "I am willing to stand bail for Bernard Shaw," he said, "on Downing Street." "London's best known police station," said Mr. MacDonald amid laughter.

"The right of free speech is not the right to state there are no great men on the road to Dover, but the right of speaking controversially. It is the basis of all parliamentary governments, and the present British Government does not even know that."

Mr. Shaw imagined Trotsky saying with great emphasis:

"You talk of your parliamentary institutions and freedom of speech, but the very moment any very serious use is made of these things the properties classes throw over those institutions."

He declared the British Government on this occasion was doing everything in its power to bear out Trotsky's assertion, adding, "as indeed, it is almost always unintentionally doing."

HAPHAZARD COURSE
His listeners applauded with delight as he followed this with the typical Shavian shaft.

"It is a wonderful government for doing things it does not intend to do, and the very last thing it would do if it knew what it was doing."

Mr. Shaw smilingly remarked that he would dearly like to believe the broadcasting ban meant he was one person who could terrify the British government into putting the music on. But it was impossible to believe it.

With prominent Laborites as his hosts, he largely devoted himself to the aspects of domestic politics in this country, advising the Labor Party to work out the technique of government so it might be ready to take over the administration after the next general election, which he hoped would not make him feel very much older than in his whole seventy years.

The menu of the dinner made no concessions to his vegetarian diet, necessitating the rejection by him of several courses.

Among the 180 attending were Lord Olivier, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webb, T. P. O'Connor, J. H. Thomas, Arthur Henderson, John Robert Clynes, Ben Tillet, John Galsworthy, Margaret Bondfield, and Belfort Bax, one of Shaw's earliest Socialist comrades.

MISTAKE SAVES LIFE
Cleveland, July 27.—Because of an error and a last-minute switch in his Pullman accommodations, Philip S. Zippin is alive and well to-day. His berth was changed to the left side of the car to accommodate a man and his wife. When the train was wrecked, the couple were hurled through a window and seriously injured.

Doctor—Did you tell that young man of yours what I thought of him?
Daughter—Yes, and he said you were wrong in your diagnosis, as usual.

SPECIAL RAILWAY RATES ARRANGED

British Columbians Will be Transported to Victoria Fall Fair at Reduced Fares

Giving opportunity to people in the interior and all over the province to attend and to exhibit at Victoria's Fall Fair, special excursion railway fares have been arranged on all B.C. large railways, according to word received by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the B.C. Agriculture Association, from the secretary of the Canadian Passenger Association to-day.

Railways which will give the reduced fares are announced as follows: Canadian Pacific, Canadian National, Kettle Valley and E. & N. Railways in the Province of British Columbia.

Round trip fares on these lines during the period between August 14 and 23 will be one and one-third times the regular first class one way fare. Tickets will be on sale from August 14 to 20. The return limit on the Port Alberni branch of the E. & N. Railway will be August 24 and on the Cowichan branch August 25.

A similar arrangements has been made for judges coming here officially. Rates will be reduced to the same amount as for the general public but will be in effect as well as on British Columbia railways from stations, Calgary, Macleod, Lethbridge, St. John, and Edmonton in Alberta. The dates of sale for these tickets will be from August 9 to 13 inclusive.

MAKE 300 PER CENT CLEAN-UP IN DEAL

Tax Sale Property Taken From City, Turned For Big Private Profit

Alfred Carmichael and some of his friends who formed themselves into a little syndicate about this time last year, made a clean-up on a piece of city-owned Pandora Avenue property yesterday, which nets them a net profit of 300 per cent. It was learned to-day. The property had come into the possession of the city at a tax sale.

Details of the transaction culled from the records at the City Hall to-day show that the property which is near Douglas on Pandora, was snatched up from the city by Mr. Carmichael for only $700 at the civic auction sale last August when the bidding lifted.

Yesterday Mr. Carmichael and his friends turned over for $1,700 the property which they had thus got from the city and put the profits into their own pockets.

The records at the City Hall show that the syndicate to swing this deal actually put up less than $300 in cash, and on this $300 they worked a net clean-up of $1,000, which they have split up.

Names of those who were in with Mr. Carmichael on the quick little clean-up could not be obtained from the City Hall records to-day, although it is known that several persons in prominent positions participated.

Members of the Provincial Government returned here to-day after the great Liberal campaign rally in Vancouver last night enthusiastically over the reception accorded them.

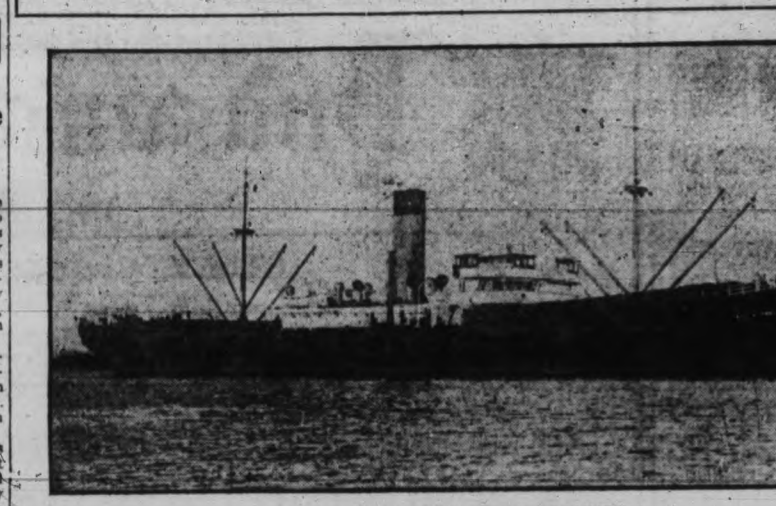

Dunning, Hon. J. H. King and Hon. Charles Stewart, who addressed a crowded audience in the Vancouver Hotel ballroom.

No campaign meeting of recent years has caused such intense interest as that apparent when Mr. Dunning mounted the platform, the provincial ministers said. The former railway minister's speech, urging Western Canadian unity, has caused a profound impression on the mainland, they declared.

All members of the Provincial Government attended the Vancouver Hotel meeting, headed by Premier Oliver. The Premier left immediately afterwards for the interior of the province to make a brief tour of his riding of Nelson. He will return on August 1. Hon. William Sloan, Provincial Secretary, Attorney-General Manson and Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, arrived here by the morning boat.

Ss. Quinault and Norwich City Will Load Lumber Here

Two lumber vessels are due to arrive here in the next few days King Brothers, local shipping agents, announced this morning. Ss. Quinault is expected about July 30 to take on a cargo of lumber at the Canadian Puget Sound mill consigned to California ports.

On August 9 the Norwich City will berth at Ogden Point to load several thousand feet of timber.

Hakuho Maru Still Ashore Near Tokio

Tokio, July 27.—The freighter Hakuho Maru, which grounded near Chiba on the Boso Peninsula yesterday morning en route from Orisco Harbor to Yokohama, had not been floated up to nearly noon to-day. It is not in danger, however. A salvage boat has been summoned to remove a portion of the cargo when it is expected the Hakuho Maru will refloat.

GENERAL B.C. FIRE SITUATION IS EASY

No serious forest fires are burning on the Coast of British Columbia, following the dull weather of the last few days, according to reports received at forestry service headquarters to-day.

In the interior the situation is also easier, except around Revelstoke and Golden, where the Railway Belt there, an area outside provincial administration, forest fires, yesterday destroyed several logging camps and a quarter of cut timber. All through the Kootenay country, however, the situation has become so much easier as a result of a sudden rise in humidity that rangers are reducing their fire-fighting crews.

OLD FOES AT PEACE

Hardin, Mont., July 27.—For the first time since the battle of the Little Bighorn, fifty years ago, when General Custer and the men of his command were slain by the Sioux, two hostile tribes have come to peace. On the anniversary of the battle June 25, Crow and Cheyenne clasped hands in friendly greeting.

Sailor Doctored by Radio Advice From Ship 100 Miles Off

Halifax, July 27.—Dr. W. Fitzpatrick, ship's physician on board the White Star liner Celtic, which arrived here Sunday, treated a patient for two days by radio while 100 miles of rough seas parted the doctor from the sufferer. A sailor on the freighter Baluchistan, bound for St. John's, Newfoundland, suffered injuries by falling down a hatchway and his captain asked the Celtic for medical advice. Capt. Summers of the Celtic offered to meet the Baluchistan and take on the injured sailor, but the freighter's captain believed the sea too rough to make a transfer and asked for medical advice by radio. It was administered successfully, and the last heard from Baluchistan was that the sailor was comfortable and would be placed in hospital at Saint John's.

LUSCIOUS JAPANESE OYSTERS TO TICKLE CANADIAN PALATES

Welcome Oriental Invader Takes up Home in Ladysmith Harbor and Plans to Stay

Experts Believe Big Commercial Fisheries Can be Developed on B.C. Coast

That tender and luscious marine morsel, the Japanese oyster, has come to British Columbia—and apparently to stay. Examined by experts in Ladysmith Harbor, he appears to have established himself on this coast permanently. This is important not alone from the standpoint of people who relish sea food on the half shell, but also of the Province as a whole, for the fisheries department has been working energetically to produce large-sized oysters here commercially.

The big eastern oyster, which is found in enormous quantities in the Atlantic, was brought to this coast, but has proved an indifferent success in these waters. His Japanese cousin, however, apparently doesn't mind the move across the Pacific in the least. Several of the oysters have become a staple article of diet for British Columbia epicures.

COLONY HERE ACCIDENTAL
The present thriving Japanese oyster colony in Ladysmith harbor is not the result of scientific effort, such as was devoted to the attempted introduction of the Atlantic oyster to these waters. Apparently the Ladysmith oyster are the progeny of a few healthy ancestors dumped aboard by a Japanese fisherman a dozen years ago. Several of the original family have been discovered and distinguished by their age and their offspring have been found in considerable numbers.

EXPERTS TEST VISITORS
The energetic efforts of Walter Jones, who has fished oysters at Ladysmith for years, are chiefly responsible for revealing the possibilities of the Japanese oyster. He conducted a series of tests in recent years to determine just how the Oriental immigrants were getting along. So impressed were officials of the Biological Station near Nanaimo with Mr. Jones' reports that extensive scientific observations of oyster specimens from Ladysmith were conducted recently. These indicated clearly that, given suitable conditions, the Japanese oyster can live quite comfortably on this coast and become extremely valuable commercially.

MORE OYSTERS IMPORTED
Following these tests the Biological Board of Canada imported 1,500 oysters from Japan and placed them in different parts of Ladysmith Harbor in an effort to get them established there. They are about the size of the native oysters, but to spawn new products, thousands of their kind. Later collections of oysters will be placed at other points along the coast so that commercial fisheries may be developed during the next few years.

Officials of the Fisheries Department are keenly interested in these experiments as an adequate supply of oysters for Western Canada and use has long been the object of fish experts. The supply of native British Columbia oysters is too small to meet the demands upon it while the eastern oysters introduced, like the Atlantic salmon, failed to show any substantial increase, although a few of them have been found from time to time.

"SHE" MAKES BIG HIT AT CAPITOL

Rider Haggard's Famous Novel is Well Portrayed on Silver Screen

Packed with thrills and teeming with fast action, plus the most appealing love story, Sir Rider Haggard's famous novel, "She," opened at the Capitol Theatre to a capacity house last night.

The picture was received by a highly delighted audience. "She" is a British super special, and absolutely one of the best pictures to be seen here in many months.

Suspense, dramatic action and sure fire thrills, follow one another in quick succession to one of the most sensational and exciting climaxes ever witnessed on the screen.

Betty Hythe who has the exceedingly difficult role of the beautiful white African queen carries her part to perfection, and it is easily the most outstanding piece of acting in her brilliant and luminous career.

The story deals with the love of the world's most beautiful vampire, and was filmed on the same locations as described by Haggard in his famous book. For those movie fans who are ever craving something new and different in the way of motion pictures, this production is highly recommended.

ANNA Q. NILSSON STARS IN FILM NOW AT THE PLAYHOUSE

From a lowly scrubwoman to the toast of Vienna is the spectacular rise effected by Anna Q. Nilsson, who plays the leading role in "The Greater Glory," June Mathis' color-sal film epic now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

More than a year was spent on the production by Miss Mathis and a vast company of stars. It is an adaptation of the celebrated novel, "Viennese Medley," by Edith O'Shaughnessy, wife of the American Ambassador in Vienna. First National releases the picture.

The story follows the fortunes of a fine old Austrian family. After the war Miss Nilsson, who is a member of this family, is reduced by circumstances to accept a menial position. Then she is discovered by a former shopkeeper, who has reaped untold wealth as a result of war profiteering. In a short time she is the idol of Vienna's new multi-millionaires.

The drama is a poignant recital of the downfall and ultimate rehabilitation of what was once the gayest city of the Austrian empire.

A side of the war not hitherto revealed is brought to light in "The Greater Glory." Miss Mathis, who is responsible for "The Four Horsemen" and other screen masterpieces, has put a realism into this picture that is wholly new.

Other principals in the cast besides Miss Nilsson are Conway Tearle, May Allison, Jan Keith, Jean Harlow and Lucy Beaumont. There are more than a score of well known players in the supporting cast. About 1,600 "extras" were used.

Curt Rehfeld directed.

COLISEUM PLAYERS SCORE TRIUMPH IN WONDERFUL FARCE

Ed. Redmond and his Coliseum Company scored another triumph in the ultra humorous farce, "Baby Mine," which opened last night to a record audience.

The complications experienced by a quibbling wife (Gladya Burton) whose husband (Geo. Glavin) has left her in disgust in trying to effect a reconciliation by means of a baby. The "helpful" assistance of her friend (Ruth Hamilton) and husband (Jack Cassidy) forms the theme of a hilarious story, which evoked continuous merriment and applause. The Coliseum policy of furnishing vaudeville between acts is proving immensely popular with Coliseum patrons.

Surrounded by an excellent supporting cast, George O'Brien came to the Columbia Theatre last night in John Ford's latest picture for William Fox, "The Fighting Heart," based on Larry Evans' story "Once to Every Man," and took a first night audience by storm. It is one of the finest things this rising young William Fox player has done on the screen.

The cast of "The Fighting Heart" looks like a reunion of "The Iron Horse" company and a most pleasing reunion it is. J. Farrell Brady, Donald, Corporal Casey, is there with his finely tempered humor, as is Francis Powers, another of the "Three Musketeers." There also are James Marcus, Francis Ford and Harvey Clark, all of whom lend admirable support to O'Brien.

AT DOMINION

Gilda Gray as she appears in "Aloma of the South Seas" this week at the Dominion.

Quite abruptly that official face which Hollywood turned toward the public changed. Its publicity psychology assumed the democratic pattern. Those exalted entertainers who would not of themselves conform to popular decorum and a seeming of modesty were curbed. By and large, they no longer paraded and preened their station nor boasted of duty of their large and penates (meaning palaces, autos and diamonds). And that change of policy is now in full flower.

Hollywood's celebrities to-day want to be considered just plain folks, like the rest of us—which of course they have always been.

Nevertheless, except for business purposes, a great guilt is fixed between the film celebrities and an admiring populace. Almost every affair where stars and public are brought into contact demonstrates how vain is the hope of movie fans that the Gilda Gray's latest starring picture, "Aloma of the South Seas," which opened at the Dominion Theatre last evening, proved to be sure fire hit with the audiences.

DAINTY DANCER IS STAR IN COLORFUL SOUTH SEA PICTURE

The production as a whole is good, and the marvelous scenic effect obtained by Maurice Tourneur are nothing short of wonderful.

"Aloma of the South Seas" marks Miss Gray's entry into the world as a full fledged motion picture star. The story is a fiery romance of the tropics and a native dancer vies with a white woman of fashion for the love of a dashing young white man, and was adapted to the screen from the famous New York stage play of the same name by James Ashmore Creelman, the author of Gloria Swanson's "Fine Manners," a picture that was its debut at the Dominion Theatre in near future.

Gilda in this production does the shimmy dances on which her reputation rests. Most of the scenes for this picture were made at Porto Rico, amid scenes of gorgeous tropical beauty, abounds with plenty of fast action and thrilling episodes. "Aloma of the South Seas" will be shown at the Dominion Theatre this week. On the same bill this week the management are presenting the Ahlwe Hawaiian string trio, with a special programme of dreamy haunting, tantalizing melodies that will be sure to please, and further enhance the atmosphere of this week's wonderful bill.

THESE WOMEN

By MALCOLM DUART

The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

"Life like this is better than life like mine," Nona said. "Comfort, looks to love you, peace!"

"Don't know that I've had much peace in a good while," said Morton. "But you know where your next meal is coming from, Nona told him, 'and you don't have to worry about getting clothes, and stage managers don't swear at you.'"

He patted her hand. "Don't be blue. Is the glitter of your career wearing off?"

"My career isn't due to start until next week," she said. "No, the glitter isn't wearing off. I want to go ahead with it. You want me to, don't you?"

Audrey, at Morton's other side, cast a quick glance at Nona.

"Are you doing it for him?" she asked.

"Of course," Nona told her. "Morton leaned forward to give a direction to the chauffeur. As he sank back, he felt in his pocket, and produced a scrap of paper. It was a penciled line in the close handwriting of John Parrish.

"See that?" he asked. The girls craned their heads to look.

"Third time in a week that Parrish has left a note for me that he would be late to work in the morning."

He restored the paper to his pocket.

"You've noticed that he hasn't been at our apartment since we came back to Seattle?"

"I noticed," Audrey said. "Well, there's a reason. I've been looking after the young man a bit in the last week, and he's getting into trouble, fast."

Morton drew a pipe from his pocket, filled it, and made a vain effort to light it.

He tapped on the window for the driver to stop. When the car had come to a halt, he drew a few long draughts from his pipe, and signaled for the car to proceed again.

"Pipes and motor cars weren't built to go together," he said. "But I can think better with a pipe than with a cigar, or a cigarette."

"I'm really worried about Parrish," and then quits us cold! I told you, and she does some damage!" Morton wanted to know.

"I was going to, but I changed my mind," said Audrey.

"I told you so," she said to Morton. "She gets funny ideas in the heads of a lot of my chorus girls, and then quits us cold! I told you, and she does some damage!" Morton wanted to know.

"I was going to, but I changed my mind," said Audrey.

ject of his romance. Helping his promised bride to a heap of crab salad, brought from the other table by an attentive waiter, Mr. Sunshine went on:

"Lois and me, now, we understand each other. She knows the world, and so do I. Neither of us is fooled about the other. We ought to get along pretty well."

"Sure," agreed Lois. "Abe's a good boy."

Possessing himself of her left hand, he held it up for the admiration of his friends. "See that diamond? Picked it up from a fellow I know for half what he paid for it! Just look at it!"

He turned her hand, so that the gem flashed satisfactorily. "There's not a bigger one in the profession," he said proudly.

Morton examined the jewel. Clearing his throat, he observed, "It certainly looks very important."

"Huh!" Lois jerked out. "He's kidding you, Abe."

The producer placidly turned to Audrey and Nona. "I don't mind if he joshes that diamond. It's size that counts, ain't it?"

"I'm sure I like it," Audrey interposed. "It looks like it's very important."

Lois nodded towards her, in thanks. "It has a flaw in it, but I should worry! Nobody would know it unless I told them."

With a comfortable yawn, she went on: "I was getting too fat to dance any more, and when Abe asked me to get hitched, why I said 'yes.'"

She reached for a portly sandwich, part of the food that had come from Abe's table. "I can eat anything I want to, now, and I don't care."

Mr. Sunshine beamed upon her with affection, and urged her to eat heartily. "For wives, are the best natured," he philosophized.

When Morton, with his companions, drove away, they left Abe and Lois still contentedly conversing.

over the liqueur glasses that stood before them.

"Different lives, different customs," Morton said, as they drove away. "They're both good, according to the lights. They'll be happy together, I think."

Nona agreed. "He's nervous, and full of business. She's placid, and doesn't worry about anything much, if she's comfortable. But gee, how I used to hate her!"

She laughed reminiscently. "I thought you were in love with her, Harry."

His eyes twinkled, but he made no reply.

"There are always other girls," observed Audrey.

Morton and Nona looked at her. "Who?" Nona asked.

"I don't know," Audrey said. "Her tone was reflective. 'The world is full of girls, and new ones coming all the time.'"

"You mean I'm a sort of Don Juan?" Morton suggested.

"No, I mean the world's full of girls to be jealous of. That's all."

Nona bobbed her head in understanding. "That's so. You never get through being jealous of the man you love, until he's dead—or you reply."

After a moment, she amplified the thought. "I suppose if I were dead, I'd be jealous of Harry was living."

"Tut, tut!" Morton said. "Let's change the subject. I'm going out to-night, and skimming around, and try to locate Parrish. I think I know where to find him."

"He needs a nurse," interjected Audrey sharply. Leaning her elbow on the arm of her seat, she put her chin in her hand, and gazed into the distance.

Nona nudged Morton with her elbow. "He looked at her understandingly, and they both smiled."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily Helps Mr. Cheer up

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

High in the cherry tree, not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow lived Mr. Cheer Up. Let us wonder at his strange name. I shall tell you, now, that Mr. Cheer Up was a bird with a red feather vest. Some people called him Mr. Robin, but he best liked to be called Mr. Cheer Up.

For that was what he sang each evening as he sat near his nest in the cherry tree—a nest in which Mrs. Robin was hatching out her second family of little robins. Mr. Cheer Up would perch on the topmost limb and whistle and sing with his head cocked on one side.

"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!" he would sing. "What if it rained to-day? What if your house was filled with sorrow? To-morrow is another day! The sun will shine to-morrow!"

Thus sang Mr. Cheer Up, and Uncle Wiggily was very fond of listening to the robin. For, though the robin gentleman could twinkle his pink nose, he could not sing a note. He could hum two songs; one was "Yankee Doodle," and the other was "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Never tell which was which, so he seldom ever hummed.

"But I love to hear you sing, Mr. Cheer Up," said the bunny. "Sing another verse of your song, please."

"I am a bit too bothered to sing very sweetly just now," whistled the bird, flying down to sit on Uncle Wiggily's porch.

"What are you bothered about?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"About a big worm over in your garden," went on the robin. "For two days I have tried to pull that worm out of his hole, but I can't."

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Well, either because he is too big and fat a worm for me to pull, or because he is too deep down in the ground," said Mr. Cheer Up. "Two or three times I have had hold of

"About a big worm over in your garden," went on the robin. "For two days I have tried to pull that worm out of his hole, but I can't."

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Well, either because he is too big and fat a worm for me to pull, or because he is too deep down in the ground," said Mr. Cheer Up. "Two or three times I have had hold of are made for birds to eat. In fact this worm ought to be very glad to act as our family dinner. It must be that he is just teasing me. Not letting me pull him out of the ground. Come on and help me, that's a good bunny!"

"All right, I will!" said Uncle Wiggily. "As you say, worms are made for birds to eat, so the birds will grow up and sing songs. In this way, making a meal for the birds, worms really sing."

"You might call it that," chirped Mr. Cheer Up, and he flew over to the garden where he pointed the tip of one wing toward a little hole in the ground.

"Here is where the worm lives," said the bird. "Stick your head up and let me pull you!" chirped the bird. "Uncle Wiggily is here to help me now."

Then the rabbit gentleman saw something dark red and round, sticking up out of the hole in the ground. He caught hold of it in his paws, crying:

"Come on out! Come up! Mr. Cheer Up wants you, my friend!"

The rabbit pulled hard, and all of a sudden he felt ever backward, for the round, red thing he was pulling on popped out of the ground quickly.

"There's a worm for you, Mr. Cheer Up!" cried the bunny as he got on his feet.

"Alas, no! Ha! Ha! It isn't a worm at all!" said the bird.

"Not a worm? What is it, then?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"A piece of round, red rubber," chirped the bird. "Some boy must have buried it in the ground, with the end sticking out, so it looked just like a worm. I thought it was pretty tough!"

"It's too bad, to disappoint you," said Uncle Wiggily. "All the while you thought this was a worm, and it wasn't!"

"Oh, I am used to disappointments," sang the robin.

"Come over to the bungalow and I'll give you some rice pudding that Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy just made."

"And I'll take this round piece of rubber and make a spring for the screen door."

So something good came of it after all, you see. And if the lady bug doesn't go to sleep in the match box about Uncle Wiggily's lemonade straws.

A Puzzle a Day

The carrier pigeons, used to send messages from the naval submarine fleet tender to the naval base, are the pets on the vessel.

Last week one of the male birds died and now there are seventeen pigeons in the bird house. But the lonesome little widow refuses to enter her old home so a sailor is building a new cot large enough for all the doves.

This cot will be divided into four sections. And the sailor says that each section will contain an even number of pairs of doves and one odd dove.

Is this possible?

(Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle)

Wall Street
To-dayLast Minute News on Stocks and Financial

New York, July 27 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—The tone of the market was strong from the beginning and the general run of stocks averaged higher than the final of yesterday. General Motors moved into new high ground for all time. Considerable of the buying in this stock seems to be based on the idea that a liberal stock dividend will be declared in the near future in addition to the fact that the company is enjoying excellent earnings. Private estimates seem to suggest that the first six months' earnings will be equal to about $17 a share on the junior issue.

U. S. Steel was rather sensitive. This was only natural in view of the fact that the directors of the corporation met after the close of today's session, and while the market does not anticipate anything material being done in the way of a distribution aside from the regular dividends declaration, still there is always the possibility that the unexpected may happen.

The oils showed better form today and record-breaking sales figures in gasoline suggests that the industry itself is in a very strong state. We call attention to the advance in copper metal price to 14 1/2 cents. The metal shares should begin to recognize the improved conditions in the industry itself.

Indications point to price betterment in the stock list and we continue to advise purchases on recessions.

New York, July 27 (By R. C. Bond Corporation's direct, Wall Street wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says:

To-day's market registered complete confidence in higher prices. Little trace of the irregularity recently created by professional attempts to bring about a reaction was observable. Although the volume continued on a smaller scale, due to the trading community's desire to await outcome of the stock market meeting after the close, brisk demand was in evidence and advances occurred in several high-priced industries.

From a stock market standpoint the development in the overnight news was the increase of $19,695,000 in local brokerage loans reported by the Federal Reserve Board. Speculative sentiment rose on the basis of the vote of confidence given Poincaré, and the best levels were maintained.

London, July 27—London Times today says that it learns from the highest authority that no arrangements have been made to reopen negotiations for the sale of the White Star Line to Furness, Whitley & Co.

New York, July 27—Radio Corporation of America for the quarter ended June 30 shows a net profit of $1,000,000 after expenses, estimated Federal tax and accrued reserve for year and adjustment for 20 cents a share on preferred against a deficit of $391,052 in the second quarter of 1925.

New York, July 27—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers in the city of New York for the week ended July 27 total $2,420,922,000, against $2,601,257,000 in the preceding week.

Detroit, July 27—It is estimated that General Motors income in the second quarter was well above the first quarter, which would indicate earnings of around $17 a share for the six months.

New York, July 27—Sale price of St. Paul Railway is put at $100,000,000. The court is asked to establish the date of sale.

New York, July 27—New York Central June net operating income, $7,650,428, against $7,147,743 in June, 1925. The first six months of 1926, $43,169,741, against $30,546,897 in 1925.

CITY RECEIVES HIGH YIELD FOR SINKING FUNDS

Final Grant of $3,000 Made to Publicity Bureau by City Council

Sinking funds investments made by the city in recent days have brought increasingly good returns, it was reported to the City Council in regular session last night. On one issue of $1,000, the purchase of which was ratified from the firm of V. W. Odum & Company, the city will realize 5.30%. Throughout the year to day the prevailing rate has been steady at 5.20%. In the report of the finance committee, this was drawn to the attention of the council.

The finance committee recommended the payment of $3,000 to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, the balance of its grant for the current year. The sum of $300 additional to its normal grant will now be paid to the B.C. Agricultural Association on account of a claim for grazing horses, the council decided.

In regard to a grant asked by the B.C. Seed Potato Growers to aid with an annual exhibition the city agreed to advance dollar for dollar with outlying municipalities up to a total of $250 from city coffers.

CHEMAMNUS PLAYERS WIN TOURNAMENT

Score Victory Over Ganges Players on Island Courts

Ganges, July 27.—Chemamnus and Victoria tennis players visited Ganges on Sunday last and participated in a week-end tournament, with the visiting teams taking the majority of the games. Victoria and Chemamnus provided strong combined competition and in the fast sets that ensued captured sixty-four games out of the 144. The games were played at Harbor House.

The results of the tournament were as follows, Ganges players first named:

Totals—Chemamnus, 84 games; Ganges, 64 games.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the "White House," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eaton on Saturday evening, when about forty friends gathered for a musical programme, and later in the evening dancing and refreshments were enjoyed. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Helen Dean and accompanied by Mrs. R. Campbell; Miss Norma Fullerton gave several numbers on her cello; piano solos were given by Miss Patricia Fullerton and Jack Ringwood. Miss Yearling danced the scarf dance, accompanied by Mrs. A. Eaton. Arthur Eaton gave the Salers Hornpipe, accompanied by Jack Ringwood. Elmer Hutchinson gave a rendering of the Charleston, which caused a great deal of amusement.

The Ganges Baseball Club held a dance in the Mahon Hall on Friday evening. Ivor Parfitt of Victoria with his orchestra, attended.

A baseball game was played at Ganges on Sunday afternoon on the athletic field, Mahon Hall grounds, between Fulford Harbor and Ganges teams, the Fulford Harbor boys being the winners.

Mrs. A. L. Wayne of Edmonton, and her daughter Marion, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mount.

Congratulations are being offered to Mr. and Mrs. G. Grimmer of Fort Washington on the birth of a daughter, at the Lady Minto Hospital on July 23.

Miss Hilda Wood and Miss Pauline Johnson returned to Victoria after spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wood.

Miss Norma Fullerton of Kitilstano, Vancouver has returned to her home after spending several weeks at Ganges with Rev. and Mrs. George Dean.

Mrs. C. Alexander and family arrived on Friday to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woods.

SAANICH SEWER PROBLEMS AGAIN BEFORE COUNCIL

Suggestion City Rent Sewer Connections to Saanich Residents Opposed

A revival of the Northwest sewer problem in which the city and Saanich have agreed to differ on innumerable occasions, took place at the city council last night, but lapsed again without action taken.

In its report to the council the water committee suggested that the city declare itself ready to make individual sewer connections for about 100 properties in Saanich near the north boundary of the city. This connection, it was proposed by the committee, could be made on terms of $100 down and $12 annually; or on $20 down and a higher annual rental.

Alderman Marchant expressed determined opposition to the plan, which he said, would lose all the ground won by the city in former negotiations, when Saanich agreed tacitly to the existence of a moral obligation as to the capital sum of the sewer debts.

It would be idle for the city to approve of any rental plan, much less to propose one itself, while the main issue was still in the air, he concluded.

Mayor Pendray suggested tabling the report to give members of the present council an opportunity to examine the position of the city in regard to its sewers and their installation cost.

VICTORIA COUNCIL TO CALL FOR INCREASED PAY FOR ALDERMEN

Victoria delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities this year will go armed with a resolution urging that in B.C. centres of more than 30,000 population aldermen may be required at a rate not exceeding $1,000 a year. The present aldermanic honorarium is $400 a year, with a mayor in receipt of $5,000 annually. Under the present arrangement the cost of a council sitting is $177, assuming forty sessions in the course of a year. This, of course, takes no account of the time consumed by city fathers at committee meetings and in public functions, both of which run into many days in the course of a year.

RAYNOR MEMORIAL UNVEILING TO-NIGHT

Municipal Band to Attend Ceremony at Victoria West Park

The unveiling of the memorial drinking fountain which has been erected by the Victoria West Brotherhood to the memory of the late Dr. Melbourne Raynor will take place at the Soughess Park, Victoria West, this evening.

In conjunction with the unveiling ceremony, the Municipal Band will give a concert, this to take the place of the usual Wednesday concert at Beacon Hill Park.

To-night's programme will commence with band selections at 7 p.m. At 7:30 p.m. President J. F. Casson of the Victoria West Brotherhood will give a short address, followed by the unveiling of the fountain by two small children, to the singing of "O Canada."

Alderman Marchant will formally accept the fountain on behalf of the city. President C. F. Banfield of the Victoria West P.T.A. will also speak briefly.

To the accompaniment of a march played by the band, a number of children who have been specially trained for the occasion, will then march around the fountain to a Maypole, where they will give a

TWO PERFORMERS IN CIRCUS HURT

Chicago, July 26.—Two aerial circus performers, a man and a woman, were seriously injured Saturday night when they fell sixty feet to the ground from their swinging bars near the top of the big tent during the night performance of Ringling Brothers' Circus. Several women in the audience fainted as the bodies hurtled to the ground. The woman, who struck the wooden band of the centre ring, was most seriously injured. Both were taken to a hospital unconscious.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda. INSIST UPON "PHILLIPS" Each bottle contains full directions. Any drugstore. (Adv.)
